

September Newsletter

Welcome to the September edition of Evolving Practice news. Find out what we've been up to over the past month.

Evolving Practice Roadshow

Evolving Practice is coming to an area near you! Starting in October, we're arranging a series of workshops across the country where you can find out more. These will be practical hand-on sessions where you'll find out more about the site and will receive one-to-one support to register an account and begin sharing your experiences. More information will be given in the Diary Dates, but you can also email us for more details or to register your interest.

> email info@evolvingpractice.org for more information

18 Weeks Event, Dunblane

On 28 August, we took the Evolving Practice exhibition stand to the Dunblane Hydro for the Patient-centred Service Redesign and Transformation (18 Weeks Referral To Treatment Standard) event. I had some interesting conversations with delegates about projects they've been involved in. If I met you there, I look forward to receiving your submission.

Website Survey

There's still time to let us know what you think about Evolving Practice! What parts have you found most useful? Have the experiences of colleagues across the country inspired or encouraged your own Patient Focus and Public Involvement work? Is there anything about the website that you'd like to change? We are keen to hear your views.

Featured Case Study

Love Is... Sexual Health and Relationships for Adults with Learning Disabilities

NHS Highland fully involved adults with learning disabilities in developing a policy to ensure that they are supported and enabled to make, maintain and break close personal relationships, and recognising their risk of exploitation.
